Dr. Young Suh Kim selected for IAOTP’s Lifetime Achievement Award

Young Suh Kim, Ph.D., Professor Emeritus, Department of Physics for the University of Maryland, was recently chosen to receive the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award for 2021 given by the International Association of Top Professionals (IAOTP).

While inclusion with the International Association of Top Professionals is an honor in itself, only a few members are chosen for the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award. These special honorees are distinguished based on their longevity in their fields, their contributions they have made to society and the impact they have had on their industries. Furthermore, Dr. Kim will receive his recognition from 2020 as Top Professor of the Year, while in attendance of IAOTP’s 2021 Annual Awards Gala being held at the Plaza Hotel in NYC this December. Dr. Kim is being recognized as a Life-time Achievement Awardee for dedicating more than 45 years of his career as a Professor of Physics. Since 2007, Dr. Kim has maintained his position as Professor Emeritus for the University of Maryland. He is a dynamic - results driven leader who has demonstrated success not only as a professor but in all his prior positions.

Dr. Kim’s impressive repertoire of past roles include Post-Doctoral Fellow at Princeton University, Assistant Professor excelling to Full Professor of Physics at the University of Maryland at College Park. In 1962, Dr. Kim was invited to teach at the University of Maryland by John S. Toll, Chairman of the Department of Physics.

Before embarking on his professional career path, Dr. Kim attended the Carnegie Institute of Technology known these days as Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. There he earned his Bachelor of Science in 1958. Continuing his studies, Dr. Kim entered Princeton University where he achieved his Doctor of Philosophy in Physics in 1961. He remained there as a post-doctoral fellow until 1962.

Throughout his illustrious career, Dr. Kim has been recognized worldwide for his outstanding leadership and commitment to the physics world. He has received many awards, accolades and has been featured in numerous publications and been an active member of his community. This year Dr. Kim graced the front cover of TIP (Top Industry Professionals) Magazine, will be featured in IAOTP’s Top 50 Fearless Leaders Publication and was on the famous Reuters Billboard at the Times Square in New York. In previous years, Dr. Kim has been listed as a Top Educator of Physics and continues to earn meritorious awards.

In addition to his successful career, Dr. Kim began in the 1960 ‘s as a contributor and co-author to numerous books and articles of professional journals such as the Physical Review, Physical Review Letters, the Journal of Mathematical Physics, Symmetry, and Quantum Reports. During his research and studies, Dr. Kim authored “Observable Gauge Transformations in the Parton Picture” which was published by the Physical Review Letters in 1989. Dr. Kim is a member of the American Physical Society and has traveled to many different countries to further his education. As a sought-after professor he has attended a variety of professional conferences and meetings over the entirety of his career. Dr. Kim also organized many international conferences in physics.

Looking back, Dr. Kim attributes his success to his unique experiences, his education, mentors he has had the honor of working alongside and his Korean background. When he is not working, Dr. Kim enjoys spending time with his family, traveling the world, listening to music and constructing webpages. For the future, he hopes to encourage students and professionals to pursue careers in Physics and to continue his writings of Albert Einstein.
